THE GOOD GP
TRAINING GUIDE
Edited by: Matt Burkes and Alec Logan

The ultimate guide to GP training and beyond

A must-read for any new GP trainee or newly qualified GP.

Offers an accessible Lonely Planet-style guide to the GP training process and beyond.

Provides pragmatic advice and tips on all stages of training, covering hospital rotations, general practice training in the community, the transition to becoming an independent practitioner, and the various methods of assessment employed by the RCGP.

Also offers advice for newly qualified GPs on getting a job, practice finance, locuming, appraisal and revalidation, and continuing professional development.
